

“Digital technology is developing in a way that increasingly controls and snoops on people. It denies freedom, within our computers and in the internet. What are the threats? What must we demand, for the sake of freedom and privacy?”

RMS SPEAKS

Can we defend freedom and privacy from computing?

Richard Stallman

Father of the free software movement

7:00pm, Monday, October 15, 2018

Hermann Hall Auditorium. 3241 S Federal Street, Chicago

Easy access from CTA Red and Green Line trains, and number 1 and 29 buses.

This talk is open to the public at no charge, and is brought to you by:

ILLINOIS INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY
School of Applied Technology